MANRESA HALL

The Tertian Fathers began the long retreat on the evening of the Feast of St. Francis Borgia. Ideal Autumn weather is helping to make our retreat exercises enjoyable; and this condition is much appreciated, as the two-hundred foot covered cloister walk has not yet been completed.

There is but little rain in Port Townsend in comparison with other coast cities of the Northwest. According to statistics published by the weather bureau, the average amount of precipitation yearly is less than 20 inches. The thermometer rarely goes below the freezing point in winter. The lowest temperature thus far recorded has been but 20 degrees F.

Father Vasta, Minister, is busily engaged in beautifying the grounds. The work of renovating and painting the wood work of the building is practically completed. The new garage is well under way. It will be finished in stucco and brick to match the main building.

The view from Manresa Hall is very beautiful. Towards the east, across Whidby Island, rise the Cascade Mountains with snow-capped Mount Baker to the North. A ten-minute ride to the northern part of the city takes one to the Straits of Juan de Fuca, whence one may see Vancouver Island and the mainland of British Columbia.

The Tertians have their Villa near "Saints Rest" on Discovery Bay, a distance of seven miles from Manresa Hall. Through the kindness of the pastor of Port Townsend, Ours have the free use of a beautiful summer home on this bay. Further on to the west the Olympic mountains tower aloft, while to the south may be seen Mt. Rainier.

Brick Wall—Bricks from the demolished Novitiate wing provided material for a wall that runs parallel to the hedge on the Junior-ate side of the road, leading to the winery as far as the fig trees.

MOUNT ST. MICHAEL'S

Bishop White — His Lordship, Charles D. White, bishop of Spokane, celebrated Pontifical High Mass in the community chapel on the feast of St. Michael. He spent the morning with us and was our guest at dinner, along with several fathers from Spokane parishes.

Missionary Notes—On October 10, an illustrated lecture on the North American Martyrs was given by Mr. John Brolan in our auditorium, Belarmine hall. The lecture was but recently completed and is now ready for circulation. It may be had on application.

At the request of Father Cox, editor of "Jesuit Missions," we have established an informal news bureau through which news paragraphs on Alaska and Indian mission activities will find their way to the columns of "Jesuit Missions." We shall gladly receive items of interest and forward them to the editor for publication.

English Academy—English novels and novelists are being studied this year by the English Academy under the direction of Mr. McManus. Mr. Tiblier began the series on September 18 with a survey of the stories of George Eliot. Scott and his Waverley novels were next discussed on October 9 by Mr. Marchinton. Other papers scheduled to be read before the academy during the year, and their authors, are Mr. Firstos, "Thackeray;" Mr. Skiffington, "Stevenson;" Mr. McManus, "Canon Sheehan;" Mr. McDonnell, "Dickens;" Mr. Mulhern, "Robert Hugh Benson;" Mr. Johnson, "Modern Novelists."

History Essays — A series of papers on the life and work of several of the Popes is being presented this year to members of the history academy. The first of these, "Gregory the Great," was read by Mr. Fitzpatrick on September 25. Mr. McDonnell followed on October 23 with an essay on Gregory VII. The year's program includes papers on Boniface VIII, Mr. Holloran; Alexander VI, Mr. Grant; Leo X, Mr. Delaney; Clement XIV, Mr. McGuigan; Pius VII, Mr. Deslauriers; Pius IX, Mr. Carrol. Mr. Flajole is director of the academy.

The disputants are: Defender in Psychology, Mr. Holloran; objectors, Mr. McDonnell and Mr. O'Neil; defender in ethics, Mr. Fitzpatrick; objectors, Mr. Curren and Mr. Sullivan; defender in Natural Theology, Mr. Tourigny; objectors, Mr. Moylan and Mr. McAtee.

EL RETIRO

At a retreat luncheon, given in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, for the Jesuit retreat house "El Retiro," Tuesday, September 20, 147 were present. Roy Bronson, head of the retreat association, presided. Fr. Dominic Giacobbi, formerly of the retreat house at Los Altos, and now stationed at Los Gatos as spiritual Father, introduced each speaker.

In the report of the year's progress it was revealed that so far this year, retreats have increased 100 per cent. The average up to the present has been from seven to twelve men to a retreat, double the average of last year. Construction on the new dormitory for retreatants, which was begun in July, was completed during October, and it is hoped that the increased facilities provided by its erection will further stimulate attendance at "El Retiro."

GONZAGA UNIVERSITY

Fr. Garrigan's Funeral—On September 29, a sorrowing throng packed St. Aloysius' church to offer a last tribute to Fr. Wm. Garrigan, whose remains were brought from Seattle that morning. The entire student body of Gonzaga and many alumni were present. Eight of the alumni served as honorary pall-bearers, while seniors in cap and gown were the active pall-bearers. Many friends accompanied the body to Mt. St. Michael's.

Mission Exhibit — The Catholic Students Mission Crusade of Gonzaga conducted a Foreign Mission Exhibit during the four days from October 20-23. The exhibit was displayed in the college study hall, and the many spectators were deeply impressed by what they saw. The purpose of the exhibit was to make better known the missionary work of the Church and to interest all Christians in the spread of the Gospel among pagan people in the mission countries of the world. The achlevements of our early missionaries were detailed in vivid representation, and many curios from our old missions were exhibited. Every afternoon an illustrated lecture was given on some particular mission, and on the last day the lecture was on all the missions conducted by our Society.

Father Moore devoted all his free time for many days in arranging the details of the exhibit. His zeal and talent produced excellent results. He was ably assisted in his labors by several candidates for the Society who are now studying at Gonzaga.

Mass of the Holy Ghost — The Mass of the Holy Ghost was celebrated September 27, at 9:30 a. m., in St. Aloysius' church. All the students of Gonzaga and of the Holy Names' Academy were present. Fr. Louis Egan was celebrant, Fr. Vrebosch, deacon; Fr. Moore, sub-deacon. Bishop White delivered a forceful address on the formation of Christian character.

News Bureau—In order to insure the university adequate publicity in all its athletic activities a news service has been organized under the direction of Mr. Corkery.

Science Classes — This year so many students are registered in both the Physics and Chemistry courses in the High School department that both classes have had to be divided into two sections. Mr. Yeats teaches Physics to Section "A" at 8:15 a. m., and to Section "B" at 2:10 p. m. Mr. Forster teaches Chemistry to Section "A" at 2:10 p. m. and to Section "B" at 7:00 p. m. About 150 high school students are studying sciences.

So many students are enrolled in the fourth year high that the Principal, Father Vrebosch, has found it necessary to divide the class into three sections.

Glee Clubs—Two glee clubs have been organized by Mr. Gaffney, the director of music. There will be separate organizations for the college and high school.

Alumnus Honored—John I. Raftis, of Colville, a graduate of Gonzaga University, was chosen national vice-commander of the American Legion at the annual convention of the organization recently held in Paris. Raftis was state commander last year.

Stadium Plaques — Plans for the successful completion of the campaign to sell plaques for the Gonzaga University stadium were made by the Gonzaga Alumni Association at a meeting recently held in the K. of C. clubrooms. The alumni hope to be able to raise sufficient funds by this sale of the plaques to redeem all outstanding stadium bonds. The plaques are selling for $100 and are good for admission to all events at the Gonzaga Stadium for five years. Double plaques are selling at $150.

Sudden Death — Stricken with heart failure while watching the Gonzaga-W. S. C. game, Mrs. Baier, mother of the Gonzaga captain, fell dead in the stands. Father Sharp, who happened to be near, gave her conditional absolution, and afterwards, when the body had been removed from the stadium, he administered conditional extreme unction. The next morning Mrs. Baier's son and daughters assisted at a requiem Mass said by Father Moore in the college chapel. All the boarders were present, and most of them received Holy Communion. That evening several Fathers and scholastics and a great number of students gathered at the undertaker's chapel to recite the Rosary in common. The remains were then shipped to Great Falls, Montana, for burial.

HILLYARD

Improvements — Several improvements were made at St. Patrick's church during the summer. The interior was completely renovated; a statue of the "Little Flower" was placed on the main altar, and the towers, which were thought to be somewhat unsafe, were repaired.

Mission—Father Deignan conducted a mission at St. Patrick's during the week of October 16-23. Father Deignan's next mission will be given at St. Stanislaus' church, Lewiston, in the second week in November.

Sanctuary Society—The St. John Berchmans Sanctuary Society, with thirty-two boys enrolled, is continuing its work this year under the supervision of Mr. Phillips and Mr. Schultheis of Mount St. Michael's.

LOYOLA COLLEGE

Enrollment — With new applications still coming in, Loyola's total registration is approximately 1150 students, the highest mark in the history of the school. The night courses are all well filled, showing substantial increases over previous years. Nearly 190 students are registered in the School of Law alone, of whom over sixty are in the freshman class.

Night Courses—Two new departments, the school of commerce and finance, and the graduate school of jurisprudence, have been added to the already long list of night courses taught at Loyola. Candidates for the degree in commerce and finance must have two years' experience in business, and a complete high school training. The subjects studied include commercial law, accounting, economics, banking and public finance. The degree LL. B. is a prerequisite for registration in the new school of jurisprudence. A year's work in such subjects as International law, medical jurisprudence, public utilities, Roman law, and Admiralty, leading to a degree of J. D., is offered to law students seeking advanced specialization in their profession. A substantial enrollment in both the commerce and legal courses is reported.

Low College — Ten professorial chairs in the college of law at Loyola are held by members of the Superior Court bench, all of whom have long been active in California legal circles. The most prominent among them are Judge Tappaan, Fricke, Burnell, Aggeller, Yankwich and Crump. Judge Tappaan, professor of Roman law in the new graduate school of jurisprudence, was recently elevated to the bench by the governor. For twenty-three years previous to his joining the law staff of Loyola, he taught law at the University of Southern California, gaining during this time considerable recognition as an authority on Roman law and contracts.

High School Paper — Henceforth two school papers will be published by Loyola students, one covering high school activities and the other issued as heretofore by the college department.

New Bleachers—The seating capacity of the stadium has been increased to about twelve thousand.

MISSOULA

New School Opened — With the auditorium filled to overflowing by a large assembly of friends and well-wishers gathered to participate in the services, the new St. Francis Xavier grade school, with its splendid auditorium and gymnasium, was formally dedicated on October 2. The Rt. Rev. George J. Finnigan, C. S. C., Bishop of Helena, Rev. Fr. Provincial, and Fr. A. J. Krebsbach, pastor, were the principal speakers.

The contractor, H. J. Hammill, had bid $80,000 for the new building, but with careful expenditure and management was able later to make a substantial cut, reducing his estimate to $69,248. Improvements and changes ordered during the process of construction cost an additional $8,701.

The building, constructed of rescreened brick, has a frontage of 247 feet on West Spruce street. The two-story central unit includes the grade school; the west wing is occupied by the auditorium, while the east wing is the new gymnasium, which, with all the latest improvements, is a model of its kind.

On the first floor of the grade school building are classrooms for the first, second, and third grades, each room accommodating 40 pupils. They are located on the north side of the hall. On the south side are the kitchen, a lunchroom, and a teachers' rest room. The kitchen is fully equipped with an electric range, a gas stove, storeroom, and other necessary equipment. On the second floor are the classrooms of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. Fire alarm boxes have been installed on the two floors as well as drinking fountains and all toilet conveniences. Heat is automatically regulated to maintain a constant temperature of 70 degrees. A new furnace of the "Iron Fireman" automatic coal-burner type, has been installed in the basement of the Loyola High school and will supply heat for both the high school and the new parish school. It is automatically stoked with a switch system of three speeds and has automatic controls. Through an economic use of coal it is expected eventually to pay for itself. Sometime in the future it is planned to connect the heating plant with the church, rectory, and the Sacred Heart Academy.

The auditorium is 60 by 100 feet long, and 19 feet high. A colored artist, Leo Winslow, who has studied at Munich and Vienna, designed and executed the decorations, embodying as much as possible the Montana spirit in the panel work. There are cleverly painted scenes of a miner panning gold, of a covered wagon, of farming, with the St. Ignatius Mission in the distance, of fishing and hunting. There is also a fresco painting on the ceiling. The hall is equipped with five exits.

The gymnasium, on the east end of the structure, is also 60 by 100 feet and 23 feet high. It has three solid tiers of bleachers around three walls, with a balcony furnishing additional seating capacity. The floor is regulation length for a basketball court, and 48 feet wide. Twin locker rooms, containing twelve lockers each, showers and lavatories, are at the rear of the gymnasium. The gymnasium has three univents for heat, with a motor and electric fans for quick distribution of warmth. The floor is of hardwood maple finish. Play ground equipment is to be installed for the children in the area south and east of the building.

Three hundred pupils, under the direction of the Sisters of Charity of Providence, who for many years have been entrusted with the education of the children of Missoula, are at present enrolled in the new school, and an additional hundred can be accommodated very conveniently. The Loyola High school has a registration of 63 boys, a slight increase over last year.

SANTA CLARA

New Mission—The excavations for the foundations of the new Mission church have been begun. The Native Sons of the Golden West are showing an interest in the work and a desire to assist in the restoration of the historic Mission.

Annual Retreat—The annual retreat was given this year in the College auditorium by Fr. Zachary Maher from October 19-22. The auditorium was used, as the Students' chapel was destroyed by the fire last year.

Dramatics—The Fall dramatic season of the College opened on the evening of October 11, with the presentation of three one-act plays in the College auditorium. The plays selected were: "Nerves," by John Farrar; "The Bolshevik," by

H. E. Walter, of San Francisco, and "A Guest for Dinner."

Gift—Santa Clara University was recently named irrevocable beneficiary of a thousand dollar life insurance policy by Richard J. Montgomery.

SEATTLE COLLEGE

Columbus Day Celebration—On the morning of October 12, the entire student body assembled in the auditorium and paid tribute to America's discoverer in a short but enthusiastic program. Brief talks were given by Mrs. Oullette, the president of the Mothers' Club; by Howard LeClaire, president of the Alumni Association; by George Stuntz, the representative of the Knights of Columbus; and by Rev. Father Boland. The musical part of the program was provided by the College orchestra in its initial appearance of the year.

Dramatics—Mr. Fahy, the Moderator of Dramatics in the High school, is working hard on the preparation of three one-act plays which will be produced in early December. These will be the beginning of what is hoped will be a most successful year in dramatics.

Lunch Room—The lunch room for the boys has been a little late in getting started, but the last week in October should see it in operation. At present, extensive alterations and repairs are being made in the old quarters.

Visiting Brother—Brother McSweeney, who has spent the last 12 years in the Alaska mission field, has been with us for the past few weeks.

ST. IGNATIUS COLLEGE

Registration—High water-mark in student enrollment was reached this year at St. Ignatius, with the total registration of 1475, including both the collegiate and high school departments. Three hundred are following day courses in the College of Arts and Sciences; the College of Law and Finance has three hundred and fifty students; in the evening class of arts and sciences there are 125; in the high school there are 700.

Dedication—On Sunday afternoon, October 8, Archbishop Hanna presided at the solemn dedication of the New College of Liberal Arts, the first unit of an extensive group of buildings that is planned eventually to rise on Ignatian Heights. Starting from St. Ignatius Church, where the Archbishop intoned the "Veni Creator Spiritus," the sanctuary boys, clergy, and priests' choir marched in procession through the garden in front of the faculty house to the new building. During the procession they chanted the psalm "Laudate pueri Dominum." The entire faculty marched in the procession. Many distinguished visitors, including the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Connolly and Brother Gregory, Provincial of the Christian Brothers, also took part in the services.

When the procession had arrived at the entrance of the new college, His Grace proceeded with the ritual of the dedication, including the blessing and installation of the crucifix and the blessing of the entire building. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was then given by His Grace in the auditorium where a thousand people had assembled. The Archbishop was assisted by Rev. Fr. Rector, deacon; Fr. Buckley, sub-deacon, and Fr. Colligan, master of ceremonies.

Following the blessing of the building dinner was served at which eighty-five priests and laymen were present. The Archbishop gave a very inspiring talk, eulogizing the work of Catholic education carried on in accordance with Jesuit ideals. Father Rector's speech conveyed especially a note of gratitude to all Ignatian supporters who have helped to make the college a reality, while Father Carroll emphasized the remarkable growth and progress of recent years at St. Ignatius.

Law School—Results of the state bar examinations held last August and announced last week reaffirm the position of the St. Ignatius law school as premier in its field. Though the general percentage passing the examination was but about 80 per cent, St. Ignatius, with twenty-one out of twenty-three successful candidates, scored better than 91 per cent—the highest of any law school represented in the state-wide examination.

Evening Courses — Of all the courses offered in the new evening extension division, attention is particularly called to that in General Chemistry. The course will consist of both lecture and laboratory work and will present the customary theoretical and practical aspects of the science, with special reference to the chemical processes used in certain manufactures and in the preparation of food products. The laboratory will be mainly devoted to qualitative analysis, and special laboratory groups will be formed to meet particular needs. This course is so arranged that mature students with limited preparation can follow it with advantage. It may be taken for College credit (8 or 10 semester units for the year) or merely for practical profit.

In addition to Chemistry there are Evening Courses of College Grade in English, French, Italian, Latin, Spanish, History, Political Science, Philosophy, Psychology, Public Speaking, Philosophy of Religion, Accounting, Business Law, Economics, Marketing, Transportation, Advertising, and Salesmanship.

Jubilee—The Alumni Association and Ladies' Sodality are making preparations for Fr. Gleeson's Golden Jubilee. The Jubilee Mass will be celebrated on Sunday, November 6, at 10:30. A public civic reception will be given Fr. Gleeson on Monday, November 7. A public banquet will be served in his honor on Wednesday, November 9.

Annual Spiritual Retreat — The retreat, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sodality, was held during the week of October 9-16. All the members of the congregation were invited to attend. Every evening a new priest conducted the services as may be seen from the following program:

Oct. 9: "This is the Acceptable Time, This is the Day of Salvation," Fr. Victor White.

Oct. 10: "Lord, What Wilt Thou Have Me to Do?" Fr. Thomas J. Flaherty.

Oct. 11: "It Is a Good Thing, O Lord, That Thou Hast Humbled me," Fr. Edw. J. Whelan.

Oct. 12: "And Then Shall I See the Son of Man Appear in the Heavens," Fr. James L. Taylor.

Oct. 13: "Couldst Thou Not Watch One Hour with Me"—HOLY HOUR, Fr. Richard A. Gleeson.

Oct. 14: "Great as the Sea is Thy Destruction; Who Shall Heal Thee,"

Fr. Albert Whelan.

Morning instruction after 8:00 o'clock Mass by Fr. Richard A. Gleeson.

TACOMA

Bellarmino College—The twenty-acre tract at South 23rd and Union avenue for the new Bellarmino all-city college and high school has been cleared, and construction of the first unit of buildings will be started within the next month. It is being erected in a part of town that in a few years will be one of the higher class residential districts of the city. It will be right on the new cross-city Union avenue highway that is to be opened within the next few weeks.

The new college will be the first Catholic college to be erected in Tacoma, and, judging from present plans, it will be one of the most modern and best equipped educational institutions on the Coast.

The architect's plans, which are now complete, call for a two-story, fireproof building of colonial architecture. The gymnasium will be fifty feet in width and one hundred feet in length, containing two basketball courts, with abundance of gymnastic equipment. There will be bleacher space on the sides and on the ends. The class rooms and offices will be grouped around the gymnasium.

On the first floor will be the cafeteria, which will have a seating capacity of two hundred.

The chemistry laboratory and lecture rooms will be on the second floor. These rooms will be equipped to accommodate sixty students in chemistry and physics.

The assembly room on the second floor will be used temporarily as a chapel.

Mission—Capacity crowds, coming from every parish in Tacoma, attended the two weeks' mission given at St. Leo's church by Father Dennis Kavanagh, beginning Sunday, October 16. Father Kavanagh's sermons during the first week dealt with questions of morality, while the second half of the mission was confined to doctrinal discourses. The closing sermon, "An Ideal Church for Ideal Americans," was given on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 30, followed by the papal benediction.

Mass of the Holy Ghost—The annual Mass of the Holy Ghost was celebrated in St. Leo's church on Tuesday, Sept. 13, before the assembled student body. Father Lynch gave a stirring discourse on spiritual ideals in education and the need the student has in his studies of the assistance of the Holy Spirit. Many parents and friends of the students attended the services.

Loyalty Cup—Following the custom maintained in many Jesuit high schools, Fr. Principal has announced the founding of a class loyalty cup, which will be awarded each year at commencement to the class winning the greatest number of loyalty points. These marks will be given for scholastic standing and for every phase of student activity.

School Library—A twelve-volume set of American History, compiled from original sources, published by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has just been donated by a friend to the growing library of St. Leo's high school. The library now has more than 3500 volumes on its shelves.

Essay Winner—Gerald Callahan, a freshman in the high school department, was awarded first prize for his essay on fire prevention, in competition with boys from all other schools in Tacoma.

Debating Society—The debating society has been re-organized under the direction of Father Joseph Lynch, who plans to have a debate every other week.

Junior Holy Names'—A junior Holy Names' society, modeled after the men's organization, has been started in St. Leo's parish for all boys under 18 years of age.

YAKIMA

Gift to Marquette Hall—Marquette High School will receive a gift of over $2,000, half the expected proceeds of the bazaar which the Knights of Columbus of this city will hold in their clubhouse during the first week of November. The Knights have recently shown considerable interest in Marquette, and are anxious to contribute in every way possible, not merely to the retention of the Jesuit school in Yakima, but to its continued development.

OBITUARY

Fr. William Garrigan

A sorrowing crowd packed St. Joseph's Church in Seattle Tuesday morning, Sept. 27, to pay a last tribute to a priest, a teacher, and a friend, when requiem Mass was sung for the Rev. William Garrigan, who died at Providence hospital on Sunday, Sept. 25.

The Rt. Rev. Edward J. O'Dea, Bishop of Seattle, was in the sanctuary during the Mass, which was sung by Fr. William Boland. The Gregorian Requiem was sung by St. Joseph's boys' choir, which Fr. Garrigan had founded and trained.

Clergy from nearly all the parishes in the city were present at the funeral. "Father Garrigan needs no eulogy," said Msgr. D. A. Hanley, who delivered an eloquent funeral address. His outstanding virtues, if we may single one out, was his humility, his self-suppression. He was always seeking the happiness of others. During eighteen years in the ministry he gave to all a new expression of the teaching of Jesus Christ. If he never spoke a word his life would have been a powerful sermon."

Fr. Garrigan was born in Covington, Ky., 53 years ago last May. He was educated at Notre Dame University and at Gonzaga University. He entered the Society of Jesus at Desmet, Idaho, in 1894. His entire career as a Jesuit was spent in Seattle and Spokane. For many years he was at Gonzaga University as teacher, prefect of discipline and studies. He had the faculty of attracting the small boys to him and through his work with them he has become a tradition at Gonzaga. After leaving Gonzaga he came to Seattle College and was later made assistant pastor at St. Joseph's. He returned to Seattle a year ago but because of ill health he was sent back to St. Joseph's.

Father Garrigan was intensely interested in dramatics and athletics and directed both of these activities wherever he was stationed.

The body lay in state at St. Joseph's Monday and Tuesday evening. The office of the dead was chanted Monday evening by the Fathers and scholastics from Seattle College.

Fr. William J. Deeney, pastor of St. Joseph's, accompanied the body to Spokane Tuesday evening. A solemn requiem Mass was sung at St.

Aloysius' church Wednesday morning and Fr. Garrigan was laid to rest in the cemetery at Mount St. Michael's scholasticate.

"JESUIT MISSIONS"

Through the kindness of the Reverend Pastors of Jesuit and Secular churches, a series of campaigns is being made throughout the east for the inter-province mission magazine, "Jesuit Missions." Very generous responses were received from the pulpit appeals made by the editors of "Jesuit Missions" in the Gesu Parish, Philadelphia, St. Peter's Parish, Jersey City, and St. Ignatius', Brooklyn. Other Jesuit parishes will be visited. Besides this, similar efforts are being made in various secular parishes, especially in the diocese of Newark, where ten parishes have been assigned to the magazine for mission propaganda work.

Throughout the Southern States, Fr. P. A. Ryan, S. J., one of the editors of the magazine, is working very laboriously and getting splendid results. Mission Sunday offered special opportunities throughout the Missouri Province also, where several campaigns were made. The editors of the magazine likewise received requests for literature from many parishes of the California Province. In fact, there has been a general awakening to the excellence and value of "Jesuit Missions," and an encouraging number of subscriptions is the result. The co-operation of all of Ours is requested to bring this campaign to a successful issue.

VARIA

In Poland, a novitiate has been opened for those who belong to the Greek rite. There were in it, some time ago, four scholastics and three coadjutor novices.

Ten thousand pilgrims visit the shrine of the American martyrs at Auriesville, N. Y., every Sunday. On the Sunday after the Feast of the Assumption there were 2100 autos in the parking field, and 16,000 pilgrims on the grounds.
